AWARD CONSIDERATIONS

for

All Oughtred Society Award Winners 1992 - 2007

YEAR	AWARD WINNER	CONSIDERATIONS
2007	Rodney Lovett	for creating in 2004, maintaining and extending a number of powerful and user-friendly online databases and search engines, to look for many facets of slide rule information: Literature Search and Retrieval, eBay Search, ISRG and Forum Archive, and more recently Herman's Archive. These information services have made the accumulated slide rule knowledge widely available to every collector, anytime and anywhere
2006	Walter Shawlee II	for drawing over the past 10 years more than half a million visits to his striking website "Slide Rule Universe", combining with commercial offers a wealth of information on slide rules and their operation, manuals, brands, types, construction, maintenance and history, thereby encouraging many beginning slide rule enthusiasts. Also for his support of The Oughtred Society by promoting the Society in his website activities and by his involvement in the OS Slide Rule Reference Manual
2005	Thomas Wyman	for researching the history of slide rules, for authoring many articles in the Journal of the Oughtred Society and for serving the Society as Member and Officer, since 1997 as President
2004	Klaus Kühn	for rallying German slide rule collectors into the Rechenschieber Sammler Treffen group, for his leading role in the organization of the International Meeting IM2001 in Munich and IM2004 in Bad Driburg, and for initiating and co-editing the comprehensive reference book "Dennert & Pape / ARISTO 1872 – 1978"
2003	Herman van Herwijnen (1929-2004)	for co-founding the Dutch Circle and for collecting over some 15 years data and images of many thousands of slide rules and publishing this treasure of information in the digital "Slide Rule Catalogue"
2002	Michael O'Leary (1951-2003)	for stimulating and moderating internet discussions on the "International Slide Rule Group" knowingly and kindly, and for researching and publishing comprehensive studies and catalogues, especially on Keuffel & Esser and Pickett slide rules
2001	Andrew D. Davie	for starting the first major slide rule website "Slide Rule Trading Post" and the "Slide Rule Forum" discussion group on the internet, reaching many hundreds of international slide rule collectors with highlights like the first slide rule emulator, the Soviet calculators collection, and the "slide rule with digital display" hoax
2000	Hans (1926-2000) & Irene Dennert	for preserving, organizing and sharing the extensive Dennert / ARISTO archive and collection with museums and collectors, and for intensively supporting, publishing and presenting studies of the history of their company
1999	Peter M. Hopp	for writing his extensive reference book on slide rules, for his organizational activities in the UKSRC and United Kingdom-based International Meetings, for co-editing the "Slide Rule Gazette", and for publishing many diverse research studies and articles
1998	Heinz Joss	for his research and publications especially on Swiss slide rules and for his leading role in the organization of the International Meeting IM1998 in Huttwil

YEAR	AWARD WINNER	CONSIDERATIONS
1997	Dieter von Jezierski	for writing the first modern book on slide rules, for his substantial role in the organization of the International Meeting IM1997 in Stein, and for sharing his wide expertise acquired as collector and as former employee at Faber-Castell in numerous research publications and communications
1996	Colin Barnes	for rallying slide rule collectors into the United Kingdom Slide Rule Circle, for research and publishing of many articles, facsimiles and transcriptions of originals, for editing the "Skid Stick" magazine, the "Slide Rule Gazette", and for his substantial role in the organization of the International Meeting IM1996 in Cambridge and later meetings
1995	IJzebrand Schuitema	for organizing slide rule collectors into the Dutch Circle, for his impressive series of national and international expositions and research publications, and for his leading role in the organization of the first International Meeting IM1995 in Utrecht and later meetings
